MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Delegates,

It is with an overjoyed heart and profound pride that I welcome you to IGNITEMUN Chapter V at DPS R.N. Extension. Our journey began in December 2019, and since that first conference, we have striven to move beyond standard structures to introduce agendas that challenge the status quo. I was truly moved by the immense participation last year; seeing so many idealistic teenagers ready to engage with global issues reinforced my belief that your generation is the one that will truly save the world. This year too we are expecting an overwhelming response.

At IGNITEMUN, we believe that to understand where we are heading, we must first get a grasp of where we've come from. This conviction led us to feature unique historical committees every year. Following the success of last year's simulations of Raja Hari Singh's Cabinet and the Trial of Hitler, we are excited to present:

The Mahabharata Tribunal: The Kuru Rajya Dharma Parishad: An exploration of ancient ethics and justice.

Our conference is further distinguished by its inclusivity, as we host specialized committees for our Grade 4 and 5 students. We believe in reaching the future generation of policy-makers while they are still at an age where they are ready to absorb, learn, and most importantly, act. Last year, we sparked their imaginations with fantasy committees like the League of Princesses, featuring invented topography and fictitious nations, and the Super Heroes Forum, filled with characters from Marvel and DC. This year, we transition them into the world of formal statecraft with traditional committees like the UNCRC and UNEA.

By introducing these concepts early, we aim to build a new understanding and respect for our planet. As you begin your discussions, remember the parable of the phytoplankton: "take care of the small things and the big things will fall into place". A single speech or a well-crafted resolution may seem like a small thing, but in the grander scheme, everything does indeed connect. I hope this conference is a life-changing experience for every one of you. I wish you all an intellectually rewarding and successful session.

Warm regards,

Pallavi Upadhyaya

MESSAGE FROM THE CONVENER

Dear Delegates,

Welcome to IGNITEMUN Chapter-V!

It has been a great privilege to be entrusted with the responsibility of conducting this prestigious event for the last four seasons, and I am delighted to welcome you all to our fifth.

At IGNITEMUN, we have always tried to bring something new to the table each year, pushing the boundaries of what a Model United Nations conference can be. This season, we are excited to present the Mahabharata Tribunal, which asks our delegates to step into moments of profound moral and political consequence. This sits alongside a total of ten committees this season, spanning both UN committees and Indian political committees, offering our delegates a truly diverse range of forums to test their skills in.

None of this would be possible without the team that has worked closely with me. Their dedication over the past months has shown just how capable the present generation is when given real responsibility, and I am grateful for every hour they have put in.

We remain pioneers in introducing such a demanding forum to students of Grades 4 and 5, a decision we made from our very first conference, in the hope of nurturing critical thinking and creativity while young minds are still taking shape. I could not be prouder of the fact that our youngest delegates from that first conference have since gone on to become veterans of more than 25 MUNs. They have won prizes at other school conferences and done us proud. Some of our guest delegates who have attended our MUNs have gone on to top their schools in board examinations and been recognised as their schools' best students.

I urge every delegate joining us this season to take part wholeheartedly in forums like this one. The critical thinking and research skills you build in conferences like these will stay with you far beyond these two days.

Here's wishing all our delegates a fruitful, engaging, and memorable IGNITEMUN Chapter V.

Warm regards

Lakshmi Srinivasan

Convener

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

"The mind is not a vessel to be filled, but a fire to be kindled." — Plutarch

Distinguished Delegates,

Welcome to IGNITEMUN Chapter-V!

MUN has always been more to me than a conference. Perhaps that is because, at its best, an MUN is less about the room itself and more about what happens within it. Different convictions meet, arguments are tested, alliances are formed, and sometimes a perspective changes. A first speech can become the beginning of a lasting interest in diplomacy. A room of strangers can, by the end of two days, feel remarkably familiar.

As the Secretary-General of IGNITEMUN Chapter-V, it is an honour to welcome you to this edition. We have tried to build a conference that leaves room for the things that make MUN worthwhile: disagreement without hostility, persuasion without arrogance, and the willingness to listen even when you are certain you are right.

The Secretariat has put considerable thought into the committees you will enter. Each has its own character, its own questions, and its own challenges. We hope you approach them with preparation, and also with curiosity. Research will tell you what your country believes. The people across the table may make you consider why.

So when the committee begins, don't merely wait for your turn to speak. Listen. Question. Negotiate. Change your mind when the argument deserves it. And do not measure these two days solely by the award you may or may not carry home. Some of the best things you take from an MUN never appear on a certificate.

On behalf of the Secretariat, I look forward to seeing what you bring to IGNITEMUN Chapter V: the arguments you make, the questions you ask, the unexpected alliances you form, and perhaps the ideas that stay with you long after the final motion is passed.

Welcome to IGNITEMUN Chapter V. I hope you leave with more questions than you arrived with, and a greater desire to find the answers.

Warmest regards

Paridhi Verma

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR GENERAL

"Young people are capable, when aroused, of bringing down the towers of oppression and raising the banners of freedom."—Nelson Mandela

Distinguished Delegates,

It gives me immense pleasure and pride to welcome you all to the fifth chapter of IGNITeMUN. I am honoured to serve as the Director General of a conference that has become a platform for aspiring changemakers and diplomats to question, debate, and discuss.

At IGNITeMUN Chapter V, you will carry the responsibility of giving voice to those who cry for help but cannot reach us on their own. It is now in your hands to find common ground with your fellow diplomats without abandoning the interests of your own people. A delegate is not defined by the awards they win. They are defined by their ability to listen, engage, and challenge differing perspectives, including their own.

Our vision this year is a conference that succeeds not only within its committee rooms but beyond them, a stage where every voice is acknowledged and the impact of every word travels further than the room it was spoken in. I urge you all to remember that your speech is not merely a collection of words said for the record. It carries a moral and ethical duty to the world outside these walls. I hope every delegate looks past the agenda itself and uses this platform to discover their own voice, and the power they hold.

None of what we envisioned for this conference would have come to life without an exceptional and immensely hardworking Secretariat and Organising Committee. We have spent countless hours building what we imagined and met every obstacle along the way with grace and confidence. We hope these two days bring learning and laughter together in a way IGNITeMUN has never seen before.

In closing, I hope to see every delegate step into their committee room ready to command it, and ready to lead. I extend my best wishes to each of you, and I look forward to witnessing debates and discussions that stay with us long after the gavel falls.

Warm regards

Ojasvi Tayal

ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD

COMMITTEE STRUCTURE AND AGENDA

UNITED NATIONS CONVENTION FOR RIGHTS OF CHILD (UNCRC) (CLASSES IV-V)

AGENDA

Prevention of Economic and Psychological Exploitation of Children in TV Reality Shows and Digital Media Platforms.

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) committee will address the growing concern of children being exploited, both economically and psychologically, through television reality shows and digital media platforms. As young performers and content creators gain visibility, many face long working hours, unfair compensation, invasive filming schedules, and immense pressure to perform for audiences and algorithms alike. This committee will examine how existing child protection frameworks apply to these industries, question where accountability lies among parents, producers, and platforms, and propose safeguards that protect children's wellbeing without stripping away their opportunities to participate meaningfully in media spaces.

UNITED NATIONS ENVIRONMENT ASSEMBLY (UNEA) (CLASSES IV-V)

AGENDA

Strengthening Actions for the Protection of the marine environment from land-based and sea-based sources of pollution.

The United Nations Environment Assembly (UNEA) will focus on the escalating threat of marine pollution originating from both land and sea. Plastics, industrial runoff, untreated sewage, and agricultural chemicals continue to flow into oceans, while shipping, offshore drilling, and illegal dumping compound the damage at sea. This committee will explore how nations can strengthen regulatory frameworks, improve waste management infrastructure, and enforce stricter accountability for polluters. Delegates will also examine the balance between economic development and environmental protection, seeking collaborative, enforceable solutions that safeguard marine ecosystems and the communities and biodiversity that depend on them for survival.

UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION (UNESCO)-I (CLASSES VI-VIII)

AGENDA

Protecting Historical Monuments and Ancient Artifacts from Destruction or Looting During Military Conflicts and Establishing Laws for Returning Historical Treasures from Western Museums Back to Their Countries of Origin.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) committee will address the destruction and looting of historical monuments and ancient artifacts during armed conflicts, along with the long-standing dispute over cultural treasures held in Western museums. Wars have repeatedly endangered irreplaceable heritage sites, while colonial-era acquisitions continue to raise questions of rightful ownership. This committee will examine existing international protections for cultural property during conflict; assess accountability for looting and destruction, and debate frameworks for repatriating artifacts to their countries of origin, balancing historical justice with the practical and legal complexities of restitution.

UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION (UNESCO)-II (CLASSES VI-VIII)

AGENDA

Reviving and Safeguarding Dying Languages Spoken by Indigenous Tribes to Protect Cultural Diversity.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) committee will address the alarming rate at which indigenous languages are vanishing, taking with them centuries of oral history, tradition, and cultural identity. As globalization and dominant languages spread, smaller linguistic communities face pressure to assimilate, often losing native tongues within a generation. This committee will examine strategies for documenting endangered languages, integrating them into education systems, and empowering indigenous communities to lead revitalization efforts. Delegates will explore how cultural diversity can be preserved as a global asset, ensuring these languages survive for future generations rather than disappearing entirely.

Prevention of Arms Race

Reducing Threats
Through Norms, Rules

The United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) will address the growing risk of an arms race in outer space, as nations increasingly develop military and dual-use technologies capable of threatening satellites and space infrastructure. With no comprehensive binding treaty governing weaponization beyond existing frameworks, space is becoming a contested strategic domain. This committee will examine current gaps in international law, assess the militarization of anti-satellite weapons and orbital assets, and work toward establishing clear norms, rules, and principles that prevent conflict escalation, ensuring outer space remains a shared domain for peaceful exploration and cooperation.

AGENDA

Iran-Israel War. To review the 2026 Iran-Israel War with the Special Focus on Oil, the Strait of Hormuz, and its Impact on Global Energy, Security and Diplomacy.

The United Nations Security Council (UNSC) will review the 2026 Iran-Israel War, which erupted after US and Israeli airstrikes on Iranian military targets in late February 2026, triggering Iran's closure of the Strait of Hormuz to foreign shipping. With roughly 20% of global oil trade passing through the strait now severely disrupted, the crisis has fuelled a worldwide fuel shortage and soaring energy prices. This committee will assess the war's trajectory, the blockade's impact on global energy security, and the diplomatic efforts needed to de-escalate tensions, restore safe maritime passage, and prevent wider regional and economic fallout.

UN Women will confront the persistent gap between legal promises and everyday reality for women and girls worldwide, examining how discriminatory laws, biased judicial practices, and structural barriers continue to deny access to justice. From unequal inheritance rights to inadequate protection against gender-based violence, many legal systems still fail to serve women equitably. This committee will assess where reform has stalled, question the accountability of states in upholding equitable legal frameworks, and work toward inclusive justice systems that ensure every woman and girl can claim her rights fully, safely, and without discrimination.

Promotion and Protection of Human Rights in the Context of Digital Technologies and Artificial Intelligence.

The United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) will examine how artificial intelligence and digital technologies are being misused to violate fundamental human rights, with particular concern for deepfake and face-manipulation tools used to create non-consensual sexual content and enable economic fraud. Such misuse causes lasting psychological, reputational, and financial harm to victims, disproportionately targeting women and vulnerable groups. This committee will explore the accountability of AI developers and platforms, examine gaps in current legal protections, and work toward international standards that deter malicious use of AI while safeguarding privacy, dignity, and freedom from exploitation in digital spaces.

This committee will address the prolonged ethnic conflict in Manipur, which has claimed hundreds of lives and displaced tens of thousands since violence first erupted between the Meitei and Kuki-Zo communities in May 2023. Despite periods of relative calm, sporadic armed clashes, bombings, and targeted killings have continued into 2026, leaving deep mistrust between communities. This committee will examine the root causes of the conflict, including land, identity, and political representation disputes, assess the effectiveness of relief and rehabilitation efforts for displaced persons, and propose sustainable frameworks for dialogue, security, and long-term reconciliation between Manipur's communities.

The Mahabharata Tribunal: Kuru Rajya Dharma-Parishad will revisit the aftermath of the Kurukshetra War, examining how the sacred principles of Yuddha Dharma were repeatedly violated by both Pandavas and Kauravas through deception, unfair combat, and the killing of surrendered or unarmed warriors. Delegates will scrutinise the failures of Raja Dharma that allowed injustice, jealousy, and political ambition to override righteous governance, ultimately triggering catastrophic war. The tribunal will further deliberate on whether the Pandavas' ascension to the throne holds true moral and dharmic legitimacy, or whether their victory was tainted by the very transgressions they sought to punish.

INTERNATIONAL PRESS (IP)

(CLASSES IX-XII)

AGENDA: Beyond the Podium-Covering the Human Side of Diplomacy at IGNITEMUN.

Journalism

The International Press journalism team will be responsible for capturing the spirit, debates, and defining moments of IGNITEMUN as they unfold across committees. Reporters will cover key clashes, standout speeches, and shifting alliances, translating the energy of the conference floor into sharp, engaging written coverage. Beyond reporting facts, journalists will be expected to read the room, identify emerging narratives, and give delegates and observers a genuine sense of how each committee's debate is evolving, session by session.

Photography/Meme

The International Press photography team will document the conference through its most powerful medium: the image. From intense negotiations and dramatic walk-outs to candid moments of camaraderie between delegates, photographers will be tasked with freezing the conference's most telling moments in time. Every photograph should tell a story on its own, capturing not just what happened, but the atmosphere, tension, and energy that words alone cannot fully convey.

Caricature

The International Press caricature team will bring wit and levity to the conference through sharp, good-natured visual satire. Caricaturists will observe delegates' mannerisms, running jokes, and standout personalities, transforming them into playful illustrations that capture the lighter side of committee proceedings. While rooted in humour, caricatures should remain respectful and clever, offering a creative counterpoint to the seriousness of debate and reminding everyone that even high-stakes diplomacy has room for fun.
